

FEMMES ET LEADERSHIP

President Sana Ghenima

Contacts

Ariana, Tunisia

Year of Foundation 2011 (After the Tunisian revolution)

Legal status Association (NGO) of general interest

Countries of action Tunisia and Mediterranean region

Mission and aims

Leadership traits are not something that people are born with; becoming a leader is a process that requires learning, growing, and establishing a specific skill set. Our mission is to provide an ideal opportunity for any women to develop and improve those leadership skills that are required in their career and personal life.

Members&Governance

Many profiles of women coming from different backgrounds (universities, management, agriculture, culture, etc.) and acting as coaches, top part of the administration, entrepreneurs, students, artisan, etc.). All women representing diverse backgrounds, areas of expertise, professions, ethnicities, ages, geographical regions and levels of experience are encouraged to join us.

We believe that gender issues are a major focus in our region especially to build a new democracy, a strong civil society and to enhance our socioeconomic conditions.

Respect, skills and development are our key words.

Projects, activities (accomplished missions and on going actions)

The national conference on “Violence against women” that took place on 25th November 2011

Leading the Media campaign with GIZ to promote WOMEN & WORK through producing films, distributing them and promoting this theme all over the 4 countries involved in the project.

Training, coaching and mentoring women in Tunisian administration and political sphere in term of leadership and additional skills to be promoted to the front office: pilot project supported by UN WOMEN and involving 100 active women.

